

Baseball Partners for Review and Discussion

Directions: During the day you will pair up with four different people to discuss various topics and activities. Find a first base partner and exchange names. Then find a different partner and exchange names for each of the remaining bases: second base, third base, and home plate. Remember, this is a partner thing. You should only have one partner for each base. When you finish, you will have four different names on your diamond.
